The Judged Trail Ride simulates typical and sometimes not so typical situations that a rider and his or her horse may encounter on the trail. We have added a few new challenges this year, some of them will test the rider's skills along with tests of the horse's skills. Riders will be given individual numbers and will perform individually, but participants can go out together in groups of two or three. To lessen bottlenecks at stations, no large groups are allowed. Completed tasks will be awarded a score based upon the performance of the horse and rider. Speed is not required and will not be rewarded.
